

EDUCATION

Bugsy at the double

SO many students at Fairfield High School wanted to tread the boards in the school's production of the musical Bugsy Malone that the production had two complete casts.

The performances, with the young gangsters armed with custard rather than bullets, were a huge success with audiences.

The sell out shows demonstrated some swift scene changes, strong acting performances, well-choreographed dance routines plus many humorous moments.

Natalie Thompson, head of performing arts, said:

"A massive thank you to our cast and crew for their professionalism and all around brilliance for taking Bugsy on with such gusto. We were honoured to have 150 members of the Fairfield Family wanting to take part this year, a new record! And finally a big thank you goes to all those who bought a ticket and helped Bugsy Malone come to life with their cheering and clapping."

Photo: Gavin Power Photography

